Mrs. DORIT BEINISCH, LL.M. Retired President of the Supreme Court of Israel; Justice of the Supreme Court of Israel (1995-2012); former State Attorney of the State of Israel (the first woman in Israel to hold these positions). Serving as State Attorney, Dorit Beinisch focused on fighting corruption, dealing with issues of human rights based on both Israeli and International Law, and ensuring compliance with the law by police and security forces. As a justice, ruled in numerous cases relating to human rights, minority rights, terrorism and national security. Among her numerous court opinions is a decision holding that parents cannot use corporal punishment against their children; a decision ruling against privatization of prisons in Israel, holding that a privately managed and operated prison violates the constitutional rights to personal freedom and human dignity; and a decision finding that a portion of Israel's Unlawful Combatants Law authorizing administration detentions violated a detainee's rights to liberty, holding that the law should be interpreted in accordance with international law. Dorit Beinisch developed case law doctrine authorizing judges to disqualify evidence on the grounds that it was obtained illegally. Dorit Beinisch stressed in her decisions the importance of protection for the rights of women, children and the weak in society. E-mail: doritbeinisch@beinisch.name.	11 – 01 - 2022
